2017 Marco Summer Latin Program

The Marco Institute at the University of Tennessee offers non-credit Latin courses at three levels each year. The Summer Latin Program is designed to help students prepare for the Toronto Level One or Level Two Latin Examination. Incoming graduate students are especially welcome to participate, as these courses will provide an excellent opportunity to get to know UT and the Marco community before the start of fall classes. Non-UT graduate students and faculty members are also invited to apply. The program is free of cost for Marco graduate students and Medieval and Renaissance Studies majors or minors. For participants from other institutions, the program will cost $400.

In the summer of 2017, the Beginner/Review course will run for eight weeks (May 16–July 7); the Intermediate and Advanced courses will run concurrently for six weeks (May 30–July 7). All classes meet four days per week. Students with previous Latin experience are invited to take both the beginner/review course and one of the readings courses. Students may not take both readings courses. Please be advised that all of these courses require a substantial amount of preparation (4-5 hours) for each class session; particularly in the beginner class, students should have a minimum of other commitments.

Beginner/Review

A rigorous overview of all the major features of Latin morphology and most of Latin syntax. Suitable for the energetic and committed beginner, or as a review for students of any level who want to brush up. Students are responsible for obtaining their own copies of the textbook, Moreland and Fleischer's Latin: An Intensive Course.

Intermediate Readings in Medieval Latin

Intended for students with at least one to two years of college Latin, or equivalent. Covers distinctive features of medieval Latin in a variety of authors. This course prepares graduate students to take the Toronto Level One Latin exam. Texts are provided by the instructor.

Advanced Readings in Medieval Latin

Intended for students who have already passed the Toronto Level One exam. Covers a range of very difficult medieval Latin prose and poetry and prepares graduate students to take the Toronto Level Two Latin exam. Texts are provided by the instructor.
